BACKGROUND

Oroko is a tribe located in Ndian and part of Meme Divisions of Southwest Cameroon Region in Central/West Africa. Oroko means "Welcome" in the dialect of Oroko people and the tribe is made up of 10 Clans, each with several villages that make up the 213 villages. Over the years, the numbers of inhabitants in many of these villages are becoming smaller due to geographical or economic mobility. Most of the geographical areas have no roads making it impossible for communication during the raining seasons. It is sad that even during the dry seasons, it takes three to four days to reach some of the villages. As a result, there is a lack thereof or a tremendous shortage in some areas of medical supplies, doctors, nurses, teachers and school supplies. Death rate has increased greatly among the elders and children while birth rate has decreased. There are several young children who have dropped out of schools for lack of school fees, books, uniforms, food, and good health. It is apparent that due to the afore-cited reasons, the population of the Oroko land has stagnated around the 130,000 people whereas neighboring divisions with improved social amenities are in the upper 200, 000 people.

STATEMENT OF NEED

The high prices of textbooks create a significant financial burden on society, prohibiting many students from reaching their full academic potential. With the huge economic crisis affecting the world today and the inflation of textbooks representing the major portion of this increase; parents are unable to afford a solid education for their children. Although, success can be measured by the number of graduates from each school every year; Oroko Cultural Association measures success by the number of students who successfully graduate, admitted into the universities, and productive in society.

Currently there are no community libraries in Oroko areas so the villagers depend on the schools for information. Unfortunately, all the schools do not have books to provide information to either the students or the communities. 97% of these students (from 5yrs to 17years) leave schools each day deprived of critical tool for their success: TEXTBOOKS. Due to the extreme poverty and illiteracy in these areas; 95% of parents who are peasant farmers living without income can not afford textbooks for their children. As a result, students are forced to attend schools without reading materials and some graduate unable to write or read effectively.

SOLUTION TO THE NEED

Even with poor classrooms and no reading materials, Oroko village students are delighted to learn and ready to take advantage of their education. Books for Knowledge and Empowerment Project will provide textbooks, non-print curriculum materials, school electronics, and educational devices for Oroko Students in Cameroon. The purpose of this drive is to provide books for children in the remote villages in Cameroon in West Africa. The books will be donated to the schools' Reading Rooms/Libraries to promote literacy and reading opportunities to the students, men, and women in the communities. It will also provide generations of students easy access to the books, which will give them the opportunity to read, write, and complete their homework. As a result, these students will perform better in schools and graduate successfully.

Books for Africa is willing to donate 22, 000 textbooks from K-12 for these Students in Cameroon. Please visit their website

<https://www.booksforafrica.org/donate/to-project.html?projectId=52> for more detail. The collection of books will be developed with the school curriculum primarily in mind. All textbooks for Nursery, Primary, Secondary, and High schools in subjects such as World and African History, Mathematics, Science, English, English Literature, Biology, Chemistry, Business, Computer Science, Economic, Education, Engineering, French, French Literature, Grammar, Philosophy, Physic, Sociology, Psychology, Religion, Geography, Banking, and Marketing, General leisure reading, Reading skills, Social Studies, English language skills, Science, Math, and Health will be provided to the village schools.

Nursery School Big Bekondo

MISSION OF THE PROJECT

1. The mission of Books for Knowledge and Empowerment – Cameroon Project is to promote education and social development to students and the communities by providing these schools with much needed textbooks.
2. It is to nurture an understanding, respect, provide educational support to all Oroko people living in the villages; enhance academic success by ensuring convenient access to necessary academic materials and eliminating added stresses from the purchase of textbooks.
3. The books will be donated to the schools' Reading Rooms/Libraries to promote literacy and reading opportunities to the students, men, and women in the communities.
4. It will also provide generations of students easy access to the books, which will give them the opportunity to read, write, and do their homework. As a result, these students will perform better in schools and graduate successfully.
5. These books and non-print materials will be used to advance the basic literacy needs of students and individuals within the communities; reduce the number of women and children that die as a result of poor health education by providing information to Oroko communities
6. It will provide easy access for the students and communities in general to utilize books, non-print materials; and other educational devices as aid in the pursuit of education, information, research, and the creative use of leisure time

GOALS OF THE PROJECT

1. The goal of this project is to maintain a well-balanced and broad collection of materials for information, reference, and research for Oroko Students in Cameroon.
2. It will support educational process by providing materials for the education and enlightenment of Oroko schools and communities.
3. The goal is to select materials to meet the needs of the students, parents, faculty, and staff in their educational pursuits.
4. This project strives for a systematic approach to compile the list of books and non-print materials where all subjects are equally considered and selected purposefully with the needs of the school curriculum in mind.
5. It will develop a functional collection that is useful to the majority of the users of Oroko School Reading Rooms/Libraries.
6. The intention will be to actively support the school curriculum, while still providing adequate coverage in other areas.
7. It will provide the best possible coverage in each subject area by continually adding and updating reading materials.
8. It will maintain the physical condition of the materials and electrical devices by repairing and implementing preventative maintenance.
9. It will encourage students, faculty, and communities use of the Reading Rooms/Libraries by building a usable collection that is relevant for students' coursework, faculty' s teachings, and adults' lessons.

 - j. President of Dideco
 - k. Mr. Wilson Elangwe
 - l. President of General Oroko
 - m. President of Bakundu Development Association
 - n. President of Ngolo Cultural and Development Association (NCUDA)
2. The Coordinators will not deliver books to either the villages or the Distribution Centers but will announce the arrival of the books, the contacts, constantly inspect the inventory in the Distribution Centers, and send an inventory of the books to OCA USA.
3. They will present to OCA USA pictures and videos of both the celebration during the book presentation and the Reading Rooms/Libraries.
4. They will provide the list of schools, villages, total number of the students, the names, and contact information of the selected representatives from each village to OCA USA.
5. They will also provide to OCA USA list of stolen and damaged books (including the numbers and title of the books) for accurate record keeping.

READING ROOM/ LIBRARY

1. In order to receive the textbooks, each village MUST show a secured Reading Room/Library with easy access for the students to reach the books, enough space to contain at least five students, shelves for the books, benches for the students to sit, and approved by the Coordinators in Cameroon.
2. Each school and village will be responsible for the person in-charge (liaison) of the Reading Space/Library.

3. Donating books to the Reading Rooms/ Libraries will be a continual process, thereby giving easy access to books and educational materials to students of all grades and to the communities.

READING ROOM/LIBRARY TRAINING

1. The Coordinators will train the person (s) in-charge (liaisons) in the smooth running of the Reading Rooms/Libraries and in keeping accurate records of all the books and educational materials.
2. The Coordinators will assist the schools conduct effective survey of the impact of the books in schools and communities.
3. They will test the students in a pre-library reading tests and questionnaires on reading habits and then implement the same reading tests and questionnaires a year after the school Reading Rooms/ Libraries have been supplied with books.

DISTRIBUTION CENTERS

1. These seven villages will be the Distribution Centers:
 - a. Dikome Balue
 - b. Konye
 - c. Ekondo Titi
 - d. Big Bekondo
 - e. Mundemba Town
 - f. Mbonge
 - g. Mbanga Bakundu
2. The Distribution Centers are the villages where the neighboring villages will go to collect their books for their school Reading Rooms/Libraries.
3. Security and Protection of the books in the Distribution Centers are the sole responsibility of the Distribution Centers, the Council Members, chiefs, school administrations, and religious authorities.
4. Each Distribution Center will provide a secured facility or else the village will cease being a Distribution Center
5. If approved by the Council Members, the selected representatives, and the Coordinators, the books can be kept in the chief's or principal's residence where representatives can collect the books for their villages.
6. The Coordinators and the selected representatives will constantly inspect the conditions of the books and keep an accurate inventory containing the numbers, subjects, and title of the books.
7. All damaged books in the care of the centers are the responsibility of the village centers who must report the incident to the Coordinators. However, the damaged books can still be kept on the shelves as reading materials for the students.
8. Stealing books from the center will not be tolerated and must be punishable to the full extent of the law and shall be handled by the subdivision members.
9. Incidents of stolen, damaged books (including the numbers, subjects, and title of the books) and the result of the investigation shall be communicated in writing to the Coordinators.

DISTRIBUTION CENTER COMMITTEE

1. Each subdivision will have a meeting to discuss strategies for the transportation of the books, appoint their representatives (including a woman and a youth leader) who will be responsible for relocating the books from Kumba to their Centers; and furnish Dr. Justin Okolle or Mr. Victor Male with their minutes.
2. Each subdivision (including the selected representatives and the local Council Members in the Distribution Centers) will be solely responsible for the books while in the Distribution Centers
3. All Centers will send to the Coordinators a list of schools, the total number of students, the names, contact information of the selected representatives from each village, and the names of villages under their jurisdiction.

VILLAGE COMMITTEE

1. All the schools and villages are financially responsible for the transportation of the books from the Distribution Centers to their villages and for the safety of the books in their Reading Rooms/Libraries.
2. Similar to the Distribution Centers, the villages will appoint their representatives who will collect the books from the Distribution Centers and carry them to their villages
3. The village Council Members will oversee the representatives since the villagers are responsible for the transportation costs from the Distribution Centers to their villages.
4. Each representative committee will present a letter to the Distribution Center listing their names as representatives, signed by the chief to verify their authenticity as the representatives of the villages.
5. These selected representatives will constantly provide the total number of students in their schools, academic progress of the students, the inventory of the books in their Reading Rooms/Libraries, and the needs of their schools to the Distribution Centers.
6. When the books arrived in the villages, celebrations will be held during which pictures and videos of both the book presentation celebrations and the school Reading Spaces/Libraries will be taken for record keeping.
7. Stealing books from the School Reading Rooms/Libraries will not be tolerated and must be punishable to the full extent of the law. This case must be handled by the village Council Members; the resolution, the list of all damaged, and stolen books shall be communicated to the Coordinators and the Distribution Centers.

FACULTY INVOLVEMENT

1. Faculty members will communicate frequently with the liaisons of the Reading Spaces/Libraries.
2. The teachers will be involved in evaluating the books or other materials in their disciplines; and providing list to the Reading Rooms/Libraries liaisons identifying broad subject areas, as well as more specific topics that will be considered when making selections for materials that will be added to the Reading Spaces/Libraries.

3. They will promote the Reading Rooms/libraries as an essential source for students and encourage the students to use the Reading Rooms/Libraries when working on assignments or doing research.
4. They will seek input from the Reading Rooms/Libraries liaisons to create new assignments for the students that will require library research; hence, utilizing the resources already available in the Reading Rooms/Libraries.
5. They will maintain ongoing dialogue with Reading Room/Library liaisons through phone calls, or regular meetings on what books are needed and how to create suitable reading environment for the students.
6. They will donate their lesson plans to the Reading Rooms/Libraries as reading materials for the school children and the communities.

SCHOOLS IN OROKO VILLAGES

The books will be donated to the villages that can show a secured Reading Room/Library with easy access for the students to reach the books, enough space to contain at least five students, shelves for the books, benches for the students to sit, and approved by the Coordinators in Cameroon. The schools and villages will be responsible for whose in-charge (liaisons) of the Reading Rooms/Libraries.
